

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:
New York, NY March 27th, 2009

The Grass Is Always Greener At ... Habana Outpost!

Eco Eatery owner Sean Meenan kicks off Earth Day by hosting Earth Day Expo, April 18th and 19th, FREE ADMISSION, at Habana Outpost

Long before President Obama put ideas like “Green Recovery” and “New Energy” into our everyday vocabulary, Sean Meenan was starting his own green revolution in aptly named Fort Greene, Brooklyn. Habana Outpost (New York’s first solar powered restaurant) has been Meenan’s labor of love since 2005, where his goal is to present sustainability to the public in a way that is actually fun. Some “green” highlights of Habana Outpost are: a Human Powered Bike Blender, picnic tables made of recycled soda bottles, harvesting rainwater to flush the toilets, and a company car that runs on vegetable oil.

Schedule of Events

Saturday, 12 noon

Opening Ceremony with Owner Sean Meenan and Councilwoman Letitia James

Kicking off the weekend in style!

Ongoing Saturday and Sunday, all day (12-6 pm)

- Free “eco-friendly” face painting
- Eco Arts / Crafts and Games
- Recycled Art Show
- Free samples, info and shopping with local green organizations and vendors

Saturday, 1 pm

Kids Eco-Fashion Show with the Scrapkins

Watch these kids walk the runway in the inventive recycled fashions of the Scrapkins

Sunday, 2 pm

Environmental Film Series with an exclusive screening of FLOW – the movie

Screened at Sundance; awards include honors from the Mumbai, Vail, and United Nations International Film Festivals. Don’t miss it!

Participants include: Alive Structures, Brooklyn Green Drinks, Brooklyn Public Library, Engineers Without Borders, FLOW – the movie, Fort Greene Association, Green Edge NYC, Green Homes NYC, Green Spaces, Green Edge NYC, Greene Grape Provisions, Greene Harvest CSA, Imperial Bag and Paper, Leadership Learning Lab, Letitia James, Rolling Press, Root for Trees, Scrapkins, Solar Energy Systems, Still Hip Brooklyn, Transportation Alternatives, Tri State Bio Diesel, Tribal Alphabet, and Trixie and Radar.

We hope you will join us for two days of Good Green Fun, Habana Outpost-style!

Habana Outpost 757 Fulton Street (corner of South Portland) Brooklyn, NY 11217
Press Contact – Patricia Scull / patricia@ecoeatery.com / p. 718 858 9500

###